Paul Atkinson
Strategic Accounts Director
S&P's Sustainable1 Group

For nearly 20 years, Paul has focused his career on market research, sales, and communications in the utility, renewable energy, and midstream sectors. He serves as a Strategic Accounts Director for S&P's Sustainable1 group, providing market data and analysis to energy companies seeking to align with a low carbon economy; better understand physical and financial risks related to climate change and energy transition; and understand their dependencies on and impacts to the natural ecosystems in which they operate.
